

POI

The other level pointblank at the inventing of causes and axioms.

Unless it be the cannon ball,
That shot it's air pointblank upright,
Was born to that prodigious height,
That learn'd philosophers maintain,
It ne'er came back.

The faculties that were given us for the glory of our matter, are turned pointblank against the intention of them: L'Estr.
Eftius declares, that although all the schoolmen were for Latria to be given to the cross, yet that it is pointblank against the definition of the council of Nice.

23. Point de vue; exact or exactly in the point of view.
Every thing about you should demonstrate a careless defolation; but you are rather point de vue in your accoutrements, as loving yourself, than the lover of another.

I will baffle Sir Toby, I will wash off gross acquaintance,
I will be point de vue the very man.

Men's behaviour should be like their apparel, not too straight or point de vue, but free for exercise.

To POINT. v. a. [from the noun.]
1. To sharpen; to forge or grind to a point.
The princes of Germany had but a dull fear of the greatness of Spain; now that fear is sharpened and pointed, by the Spaniards late enterprizes upon the Palatinate.

Part-new grind the blunted ax, and point the dart.
What help will all my heavy friends afford,
When to my breast I lift the pointed sword.

The two pinnæ stand upon either side, like the wings in the petasus of a Mercury, but rise much higher, and are more pointed.

Some on pointed wood
Transfix'd the fragments, some prepar'd the food.

2. To direct towards an object, by way of forcing it on the notice.

Alas to make me
A fixed figure, for the hand of scorn
To point his slow unmeaning finger at.

Mount Hermon, yonder sea, each place behold
As I point.

3. To direct the eye or notice.
Whoever should be guided through his battles by Minerva, and pointed to every scene of them, would see nothing but subjects of surprize.

4. To show as by directing the finger.
From the great sea, you shall point out for you mount Hor.

It will become us, as rational creatures, to follow the direction of nature, where it seems to point us out the way.

I shall do justice to those who have distinguished themselves in learning, and point out their beauties.

By nature pointed out for preference?
5. [Pointer, Fr.] To direct towards a place: as, the cannon were pointed against the fort.

6. To distinguish by stops or points.
To POINT. v. n.
1. To note with the finger; to force upon the notice, by directing the finger towards it. With at commonly, sometimes to before the thing indigited.

Now must the world point at poor Catharine,
And say, lo! there is mad Petruchio's wife.

Sometimes we use one finger only, as in pointing at any thing.

Who fortune's fault upon the poor can throw,
Point at the tatter'd coat and ragged shoe.

2. To indicate as dogs do to sportmen.
Fond the Jews are of their method of pointing.

The subtle dog scowls with sagacious nose,
Now the warm scent allures the covey near,
He treads with caution, and he points with fear.

3. To show.
To point at what time the balance of power was most equally held between their lords and commons in Rome,
would perhaps admit a controversy.

4. To show.
To point at what time the balance of power was most equally held between their lords and commons in Rome,
would perhaps admit a controversy.

5. [Pointer, Fr.] To direct towards a place: as, the cannon were pointed against the fort.

6. To distinguish by stops or points.
To POINT. v. n.
1. To note with the finger; to force upon the notice, by directing the finger towards it. With at commonly, sometimes to before the thing indigited.

POI

2. Epigrammatical smartness.
Like Horace, you only expose the follies of men; and in this excel him, that you add pointedness of thought.

These poises or pointals are, for the most part, little balls, set at the top of a slender stalk, which they can move every way at pleasure.

1. Any thing that points.
I ought to tell him what are the wheels, springs, pointer, hammer and bell whereby a clock gives notice of the time.

2. A dog that points out the game to sportmen.
The well taught pointer leads the way,
The scent grows warm; he stops, he springs his prey.

3. [Pointing, Fr.] Something made the object of ridicule.

1, his forlorn dutchess,
Was made a wonder and a pointing stock
To every idle rascal follower.

2. To every idle rascal follower.
And to the laws, your sword of justice, fly.

3. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

4. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

5. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

6. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

7. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

8. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

9. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

10. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

11. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

12. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

13. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

14. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

15. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

16. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

17. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

18. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

19. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

20. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

21. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

22. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

23. To every idle rascal follower.
The tongue is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.

POL

2. Balance; equipoise; equilibrium.
To do't at peril of your soul,
Were equal poize of sin and charity.

Where an equal poize of hope and fear
Does arbitrate th' event, my nature is
That I incline to hope.

3. A regulating power.
Men of an unbounded imagination often want the poize of judgment.

To POIZE. v. a. [poiser, French.]
1. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

2. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

3. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

4. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

5. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

6. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

7. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

8. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

9. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

10. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

11. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

12. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

13. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

14. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

15. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

16. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

17. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

18. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

19. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

20. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

21. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

22. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

23. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

24. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

25. To balance; to hold or place in equiponderance.
How nice to couch? how all her speeches poized be:
A nymph thus turn'd, but mended in translation.

POL

Straight gath'ring all his active strength,
He rises higher.

He ordered to arm long *pole*s with sharp hooks, wherewith they took hold of the tackling which held the mainyard to the mast, then rowing the ship, they cut the tackling, and brought the mainyard by the board.

3. A tall piece of timber erected.
Wither'd is the garland of the war,
The soldier's pole is fall'n.

4. A measure of length containing five yards and a half.
This ordinance of tithing them by the pole is not only fit for the gentlemen, but also the noblemen.

5. An instrument of measuring.
A peer of the realm and a counsellor of state are not to be measured by the common yard, but by the pole of special grace.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.

To POLE. v. a. [from the noun.] To furnish with poles.
Begin not to pole your hops.